

Clothes and Accessories for Men and Women

Throckmorton Jones, founded in 2014 in the S.F. Our collections are innovative, unexpected and getting people talking.

We pay attention to every detail, producing collections with sustainable sourcing, eco friendly production and ethical business practices in the best ways we know how. All the while making bad ass fashion that gets noticed.

We partner with independent artist, suppliers and service providers to meet production demands and share the economic growth, donating material and hardware we cannot use to charities and individual artists

Our loyalists are a blend of salty style, savvy mindset and classic desire for lasting quality. Globally aware, taking local action to make an impact with their buying power.

Our Collections

Designed and fabricated using classic atelier techniques with savvy updates for unexpected Designs. We purchase beautiful, top quality dead stock, end lots and private collections in volume too small for traditional production houses. We then turn the materials into exquisite collections

- Original pieces that get noticed
- Best quality craftsmanship and materials
- Genuine contribution to sustainable fashion and business practices
- An outstanding experience purchasing... and beyond
- You will not pay 300% markup- ability to buy direct from the design

Tradition paired with Updated Technology

Throckmorton Jones is using technology to bring back a modernized cottage industry style production (torrent production), we grow AND we support more small business entrepreneurs.

Our prices reflect our commitment to a triple bottom line business. People, smart production, quality handcraftsmanship and savvy sustainability.

We bring to the table many years in the fashion and textile industry, a solid balance of business strategy and design expertise that results in innovative solutions and designs. Throckmorton Jones rocks the hearts of aesthetic lovers and functional geeks alike.

We Intend to Create Ripples...

We want to have the best possible impact on our clients, for them to then repeat the experience in their lives and beyond.

Our customers think of us when they want to feel confident, empowered, memorable, seen from afar and purposeful with their purchasing power. Throckmorton Jones is building a brand with an ethos attractive to conscious, discerning and intelligent customers that want their garments to be fantastically gorgeous, function AND their dollars to have a powerful impact. We are building loyal customer relationships thru innovation, intention + quality.

Our clients are "salty" casual lux with a desire for personal style.

- Confident: like they have a timeless piece that stands out and adds value at the same time
- Satisfied- the piece is original and the quality is impeccable: they are making powerful choices with their purchases.
- Sales at shows and markets for over the last 7 years earned a faithful solid following and customer base.

What our Customers are Saying

"I love LOVE the belt soooo much. You were right, the tooling enhances the buckle and I can't think of a more wonderful design. Please let the tooler know how much I appreciate his beautiful design. I'm so pleased. I'll have this for the rest of my life, and Casey will be able to enjoy it too."

—Katie

"Lisa, belt was in Monday's mail and I am wearing as I write. It's beautifully made, and despite my high expectations, better than I anticipated. Thanks very much."

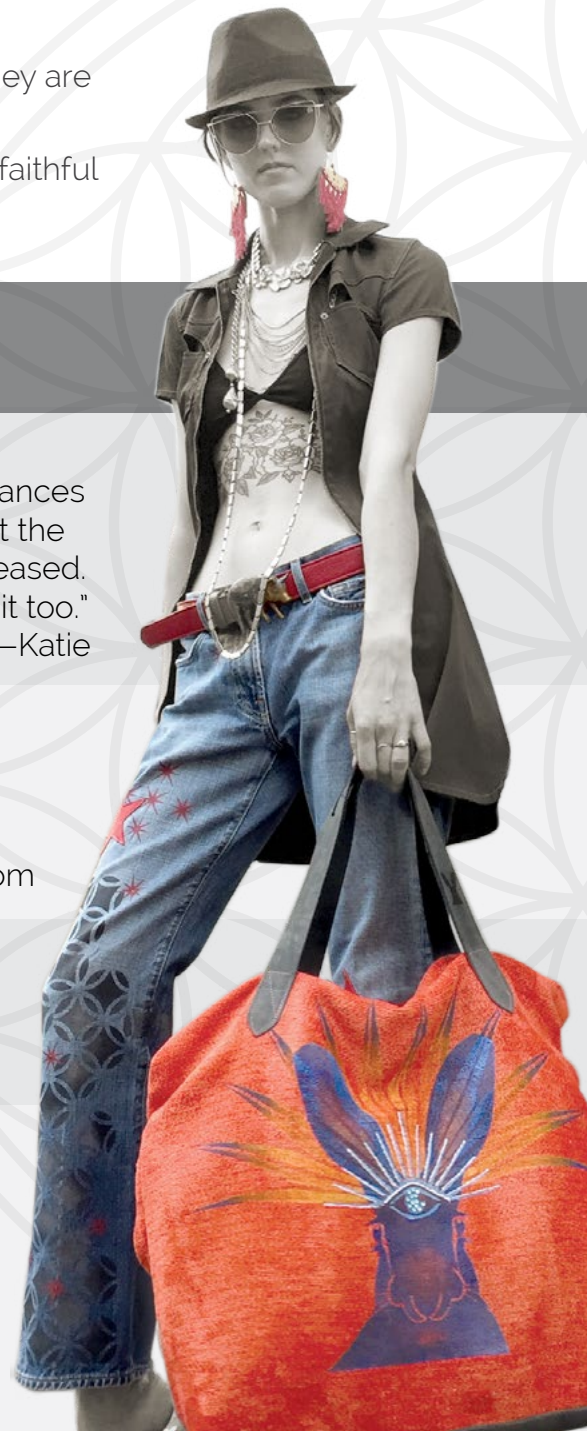

—Tom

"You listen to the customers needs and were able to use your imagination to come to a solution. Just charming in General."

— M

"About your cuffs and bags... I love wearing mine, and always get compliments. It's fun being noticed for something interesting and beautiful! Eye catching and set the right tone "
